Further Reading

The IADT Guidelines include recommended protocols for follow-up and Andreasen et al's Textbook and Colour Atlas of Traumatic Injuries to the Teeth^{12,19} is a hugely valuable reference resource. A cheaper reference source for every practice may be Managing Dental Trauma in Practice in the Quintessence Essentials series.²⁰

Addendum

Career Pathways in Dentistry (Dent Update 2010; 37: 162–167).

Alasdair G Miller and Brian Grieveson

The authors would like to amend the following points in their article published in the April issue of Dental Update.

1. Introduction

'A curriculum for UK Dental Foundation Training' in 2006 (not 2007).

2. Figure 1

The Foundation Training bracket to include Senior House Officer posts.

3. Table 2

- Oral and Maxillofacial Radiology to read Dental and Maxillofacial Radiology – Training Time to CCST (years) 4 (not 3).
- Oral Microbiology – Training Time to CCST (years) 5 (not 3).
- Paedodontics to read Paediatric Dentistry.

4. Table 3

- Membership of the Faculty of Dental Surgery (row 2) – Dublin offers MFD not MFDS.
- Diploma in Restorative Dentistry (row 3) – Awarding Body – FGDP(UK) not FGHP(UK).
- Dip Forensic Dentistry (row 8) – only offered by some Universities (not all Royal Colleges).
- Diploma in Restorative Dentistry (row 10) to read Membership in Restorative Dentistry.
